

A new model of medical practice centered around CPESN® community pharmacies and focused on rehabilitative care in the home for high-risk patients

CPESN PPC@Home introduces the Physical Medical & Rehabilitation (PM&R) Medical model where your pharmacy serves as the anchor to chronic disease rehabilitative care for recovering at-risk populations through an interprofessional support team. Available exclusively to participating CPESN USA pharmacies as a secondary chapter affiliation, the Physiatry Pharmacist Collaborative is based on pharmacists working with physicians trained to lead rehabilitative care for patients disabled by chronic disease, disorder, or injury. Guide your pharmacy's recovering patients from frailty to mobility with PPC@Home.

Benefits for CPESN Member Pharmacies

- Lead the local market with in-home care that guides patients from frailty to mobility
- Get a jump on a growing $265B services industry as care shifts from hospital to home
- Access tech-enabled resources to help aging, disabled, and other high-risk patients self-manage at home
- Leverage collaboration with physiatrists to build primary care relationships
- Selection of model that suits your market
- Varying with model, MSO support includes practice analysis for business opportunity; credentialing and training; contract development; operations and staffing consultation

CPESN PPC@Home

- CPESN USA member in good standing and affiliated with a local network
- PPC@Home participating pharmacies must be able to provide, execute and complete effective medication management services including MTM, Medication Reconciliation, Transition of Care Management, and consulting services among others, and deliver, offer to deliver, or provide some means to be able to address patient needs directly at home.

Costs:

Model varies with state laws regarding medical practice ownership.

Ownership Model

- $10,000 initial fee
- $2,500 per month

Extender Model

- $5,000 initial fee
- $1,000 per month

Questions?
Want to Join?
Contact us today at:
ppc@cpesn.com